Local Content Management

Course code: ML310 From: 07-09-2026 Venue: Paris - Course Fees: 5150 £

Introduction

Local Content Management (LCM) plays a pivotal role in fostering economic development, sustainability, and social inclusion within communities where businesses operate. It encompasses strategies and practices aimed at maximizing the participation of local businesses, labor, and communities in the supply chain and value-creation processes of industries such as oil & gas, mining, construction, and others. Understanding and effectively implementing LCM principles are essential for organizations seeking to enhance their social license to operate and create long-term value for all stakeholders.

Objectives

- Gain a comprehensive understanding of Local Content Management and its significance in various industries.
- Learn how to identify and engage with key stakeholders to effectively implement LCM initiatives.
- Develop actionable strategies for maximizing local content opportunities while addressing challenges.
- Acquire practical skills for implementing, monitoring, and evaluating LCM strategies within organizations.
- Explore best practices and successful case studies to inspire and inform your own LCM efforts.

Target Audience

This training program is designed for professionals and decision-makers involved in supply chain management, corporate social responsibility, community relations, government relations, and sustainability within industries such as oil & gas, mining, construction, and other sectors with significant local content considerations. It is also beneficial for policymakers, regulators, and consultants seeking to enhance their understanding of LCM principles and practices. Whether you are new to LCM or seeking to refine your existing strategies, this program offers valuable insights and practical guidance for advancing your organization's local content objectives.
