Course code: HR63 From: 06-04-2026 Venue: Amsterdam - Course Fees: 5150 £

Introduction

Are you planning to retire from full-time employment? Are you prepared? This course walks representatives through a 5-day interactive and activity-packed session covering everything from retirement benefits to work-life balance.

Traditionally, separation planning programs focused on the associated benefits and financial factors associated with retirement planning. Personal planning is essential because it determines your level of comfort with your retreat lifestyle. Financial planning is important because it identifies your sources of income and expenses and creates a retirement budget based on your plan.

Our effective and collaborative RP addresses not only these significant issues, but also more personal issues such as work-life balance, emotional readiness, and new or part-time employment.

This course will highlight:

- Retirement (voluntary or mandatory) is the next phase of a career which should be designed just like it was with the preceding phase of productive employment
- This endless course requires one to be regarded holistically, enabling one to psychologically and intellectually prepare for a successful, prolific and optimal life in retreat
- Relinquishment paradigm shift "We retire to something, rather than from something"
- The retreat is the "3rd Box" of life consisting not only of leisure but also contents of all the previous two "Boxes", i.e. learning & self-development and productive life
- The retirement journey must be navigated with appropriate knowledge, skills, and abilities for optimal fulfillment and satisfaction
