Strategic Planning & Strategy

Course code: ML102 From: 02-11-2026 Venue: Geneva - Course Fees: 5250 £

Introduction

This course will prepare you to make a significant contribution to the creation of tomorrow's organization from today's organization. Strategy and strategic planning are critical activities that enable all managers to (a) anticipate a significant change in the structure and potential of their business and (b) make a significant personal contribution to business development processes.

All managers must understand and deal with major changes in markets, technologies, competition, business models, and risk management, as well as the broader impact of globalization. To accomplish this, the strategic planning team must consider how to use all available resources to chart a course that will allow an organization to grow rapidly and deliver outstanding financial and other results.

This course will highlight the following:

- Learning how to apply leading-edge thinking in strategic analysis and planning
- Evaluating the choices faced by an organization in planning for the future
- Preparing a strategic plan that serves as a road map for action
- Understanding best practice in implementing strategic programs and projects
- Designing an effective linkage between strategic and operational management

Course Objectives of Strategic Planning & Strategy

At the end of this course, you will acquire to:

- Leverage the value of strategy and strategic planning
- Design a strategic planning process for your organization
- Analyze options and make robust choices in setting goals and objectives
